Course Features

Available every week

To the Point courses meet every Tuesday and Thursday, with new students being accepted every week. After signing up, start taking class the following Tuesday or Thursday.

Individual topics

To the Point courses are designed with a different, independent topic every week, with no connection to previous classes.

Continuous Classes

To the Point conversation course series has continuous classes with a total of 72 themes.

Flexible schedules

To the Point enrollees may study eight topics over six months. Should work or family matters prevent you from attending class, you are still guaranteed to be able to attend eight classes within the time period.

Immediately Useful

To the Point Courses will integrate life and work themes, using two hours learning practical subjects ready to be utilized in everyday situations!
